

Digital Asset Usage Guidelines 2016 RTO3 Hamilton Halton Brant

OVERVIEW

This document is designed to help our partners better understand how to use digital assets shared by RTO3 Hamilton Halton Brant, and how to properly attribute ownership of the assets.

WHAT ARE DIGITAL ASSETS?

Digital assets are any type of electronic files including documents, images, creative files, audio, and video. These documents are considered assets because of their value and the time, effort, and funds that go into creating them. Digital Asset Management (DAM) software is used to organize, categorize, and (most importantly for RTO3's purposes) share digital assets on a common platform. RTO3 wishes to use barberstock as a DAM platform from which our corporate partners can use these files to better promote and support their own business and marketing efforts.

Since these files are explicitly owned by RTO3, there are just a few guidelines we ask you to respect when using them. Here is a brief breakdown:
